- Access to do estimate: In order for Kathy to do an estimate on a tree, even just to prune the branches from your side, she will need to walk around the whole tree and assess the tree's health. Though in WA State property owners do have a legal right to prune vegetation overhanging property lines, this is conditional on not damaging the health of the tree. This requires a 360 degree visual inspection of the base of the tree, for this reason.
- Access for clean up: We pride ourselves on providing an excellent clean up after the work is finished. As trees often overhang property lines, our crew sometimes needs to access neighboring yards in order to do a thorough clean up (which is trespassing unless permission has been granted to do so).
- Property Line trees: When the trunk of a tree straddles a known property line, or is in the vicinity of an unclear property line, we follow the City of Seattle's guidance in assuming property line trees to be jointly owned. We Require explicit agreement from both property owners for pruning and removing such trees.
- Work on neighbor's trees: Our crew may need to climb a neighbor's trees in order to access the work for our clients when trees overhang property lines. Pruning specifications gladly provided upon request for adjacent property owners of work to be done on their trees.

Customer's Responsibility: The Customer is responsible for defining all property lines. OOL is not responsible for defining Customer's property lines and OOL relies entirely on Customer to define all property lines. In the event of a dispute with neighboring property owners over property lines and/or trespass, the Customer agrees to defend and indemnify Out on a Limb Tree Co LLC
